Results Day Relief

IT was a tense day for many young people as they await results from important exams.

And for some members of our trip this was no exception as they awaited the results of their A-Levels, BTECs and whether their plans for what is next have hit a stumbling block.

The biggest number of those expecting results were on their way to Bern on a coach when they found out. Sharing internet connections and refreshing the pages of their colleges and UCAS frequently most were welcomed by the results they were hoping for or a place in university.

Plus there was plenty of talk about what next in their Scouting journey with Scout Network, SSAGO and more on the list.

Sights and Skills in Swiss Capital

SWITZERLAND'S de-facto capital city again hosted some of our adventurers yesterday when Matterhorn and Hokenhorn sub-camps visited for a day trip.

With near free reign, they got to explore the streets, buy their own lunch (whether that be the local food or the local Swiss items on the McDonalds menu) and see the attractions that interested them.

Some visited the family apartment of scientist Albert Einstein and discovered more about the path to his discovery and the many failures experienced along the way.

'Pretty impressive' was the verdict of one Scout about the Cathedral which many of the adventurers explored while others spotted plenty of fountains, statues and a sculpture of a golden foot.

A group of Scout Network found the Museum of Communication and had great fun trying the old tech, acting out movie scenes and discovering what price our data and communication holds in society today. An unexpected gem in the city!

All aboard for a splashing good time!

YESTERDAY more of our adventurers took on the white water rafting between Thun and Bern on the Lütchine River. Considered as some of the best rapids in Switzerland, the adventures raced down the river working as a team.

Tubing is a Go!

BERN was also the host to some adventurers from Eiger sub-camp who took to the Aare River to enjoy tubing.

It may have been tough at times, but all our Explorer Scouts rose to the challenge, navigating down the river and making the most of a very unique journey.

Not even the thought of what was in the water deterred them!

Cooking up a storm.

WITH just a few gas rings and a simple shelter, Matterhorn sub-camp tried to cook as many camp meals from around the world as possible, including drawing on skills from the cooking skills of other Explorers.

On the menu were Kebabs with Jordanian Marinade and Greek salad accompaniment with walnut and olives; Italian bolognaise with Parmesan and Swiss Fondue of course.

Steven surprised with a birthday bash!

THE Scout Network members surprised Hokenhorn sub-camp leader Steven with a birthday meal at Hotel Spycher (Kandersteg Pizzeria) to celebrate his 28th birthday yesterday.

The meal was planned in secret and successfully kept a surprise from Steven for several days, despite several mishaps that nearly gave up the deal. Steven remained unaware until he was whisked away to the restaurant as he thought we were off for our meal at the Sunneblick.

A selection of pizzas were provided, some of which were spicier than the Networks had guessed!!
